Dwight D. Eisenhower was born in Denison, Texas on October 14, 1890. He gained fame as a military leader during World War II and the Korean War. With the slogan "I like Ike," Eisenhower won a big victory in the presidential election of 1952 and was re-elected in 1956. While he was President, he worked hard to gaining equal rights for black people. "There must be no second-class citizens in this country," he wrote.