

I Have a Dream Too

Name _____

DIRECTIONS: Martin Luther King, Jr., delivered a famous speech on August 28, 1963, at the steps of the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C. In that speech, he described his dream for America. He had a dream of equality, justice, and peace among all people. Visit the sites below to read the words of his speech and look at the photo of King that was taken on that day. Think about your dreams for the future, and answer the questions by sharing your vision of the years to come.

1. What are your hopes for your own future? What do you want to do when you finish school? What kind of career interests you most?
2. What are your hopes for your family? What problems do family members face that you would like to correct? What would you like for them to experience in the future?
3. Think about where you live. What is your dream for that place? How could that place be improved?
4. What would you like to see for the future of your country? What can you do to make your dream come true?
5. People in all nations have dreams for the world. What is your dream for the world? Is it a realistic dream? Why or why not?
