

Goals and Ambitions

Angelina and Sarah set as their ambition to help eliminate of slavery. They worked hard to achieve this goal. Though they did not always feel successful, they did not give up.

You, too, must set goals for your life. What is your ambition? What do you dream about doing? No goal is too high and no dream is too big for you to achieve!

Think about your plans. In the space below, write five of your own goals. Explain these goals in the space provided, and then tell how you will achieve these dreams. If classmates choose to share their goals with you, you can help them get ahead by encouraging them. Remind them that they, too, can succeed. They should remind you of your goals and encourage you to succeed also. By working together, we can all succeed!
