

Name: _____

Date: _____

Banned Books Week

The paragraph below tells about a special event in September. Can you find and mark ten errors in the paragraph? Look for errors of capitalization, punctuation, spelling and grammar.

The last week of Setpember is Banned books Week. The word banned mean “not allowed.” Many famous books have been banned. Even the popular Harry Potter series was banned in some schools and librarys. Judith Krug, a librarians and activist, beleived people should read whatever they wanted She launched the first Banned Books Weak in 1982. We have celebrated it ever sense.

Copyright © Education World®. Education World grants users permission to reproduce this work sheet for educational purposes only.

Name: _____

Date: _____

Banned Books Week

The paragraph below tells about a special event in September. Can you find and mark ten errors in the paragraph? Look for errors of capitalization, punctuation, spelling and grammar.

The last week of Setpember is Banned books Week. The word banned mean “not allowed.” Many famous books have been banned. Even the popular Harry Potter series was banned in some schools and librarys. Judith Krug, a librarians and activist, beleived people should read whatever they wanted She launched the first Banned Books Weak in 1982. We have celebrated it ever sense.

Copyright © Education World®. Education World grants users permission to reproduce this work sheet for educational purposes only.