

Fall Foliage Map

Name _____

When do fall colors reach their peak in the United States? See the fall foliage map at http://image.weather.com/images/maps/special/fall_peak_us_720x486.jpg. Use the map to help you answer the questions below. Circle the best answer to each question.

1. In which month do most places on the map experience the brightest fall foliage?

September

October

November

2. Which color is most widespread on the map?

deep red

red orange

gold

yellow

3. When will people who live along the coast of Oregon be most likely to see the brightest foliage colors this fall?

late September

early October

mid October

late October

4. Foliage peaks in late September in some northernmost parts of the United States and in high places such as the Rocky, Smokey, and Appalachian mountain ranges. On the map, what color is used to show those places?

yellow

gold

orange

deep red

5. When will people in southern Illinois be likely to see the brightest foliage colors?

early October

mid October

late October

early November

6. During which month do foliage colors peak in most of the Great Lakes region?

September

October

November

7. When would be the best time to see bright fall colors in northern parts of Alabama, Mississippi, and Georgia?

early to mid October

mid to late October

late October to early November

8. You won't see wide areas of bright fall colors in states on the map that are colored green. Which of the states below is not known for its bright fall foliage?

Florida

Maine

Washington

Michigan