

A tree known for its cones,
My odor is a treat;
Now change the P to D,
A fancy word for eat.

What am I?

An opposite of front,
Then make the R an N;
I mean it is not far,
To there and back again.

What am I?

I am what rivers do,
As they head to the sea;
Change F to G and I'm,
The lamplight you can see.

What am I?

A tree known for its cones,
My odor is a treat;
Now change the P to D,
A fancy word for eat.

*What am I? Pine, Dine

An opposite of front,
Then make the R an N;
I mean it is not far,
To there and back again.

*What am I? Rear, Near

I am what rivers do,
As they head to the sea;
Change F to G and I'm,
The lamplight you can see.

*What am I? Flow, Glow
