Building a Home

Pretend that you are an animal and write a story describing what animal you are, what home you will build and how you will build it.