

Life Cycle of a Butterfly

A butterfly begins as an egg. The egg hatches and out of the egg comes a caterpillar. The caterpillar spends its life eating as much as it can. That sounds like a good life to me! Then, the caterpillar makes a chrysalis. While it is in the chrysalis, it changes. When it comes out, it is a butterfly. It dries off its new wings and learns how to fly. I think that would be fun! The butterfly's job is to lay eggs. Those eggs will turn into more butterflies. Some butterflies live for only a few days and some live for a year. During each part of the life cycle, there is a job to do. I would like to be a caterpillar and have the job of eating.
